CECC EURASIA MINING CONFERENCE 2023

PARTNERSHIP. OPPORTUNITIES. INNOVATION.

EXPAND YOUR BUSINESS TO EURASIA

CECC CHAIRMAN GREETING

Dear participants!

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Canada Eurasia Chamber of Commerce (CECC), I would like to welcome you to the 2023 CECC Eurasia Mining Conference. Although this will be only the second year that the Conference is held under our new name it bears repeating that CERBA, our predecessor entity, organised for over 20 years an event like this one in the context of PDAC. PDAC has been rightly recognized as the world's premier mineral exploration and mining convention. Our long-term association with PDAC has turned into a productive partnership whose value has been confirmed by the growing interest of government and private sector stakeholders.

The CECC Eurasia Mining Conference is the largest annual Canada-Eurasia event dedicated to the mining industry. It will gather over two hundred decision-makers and allow Canadian participants to greet and meet their counterparts from Kazakhstan, Uzbekistan and Mongolia.

In the past few years, public health challenges and geopolitical disturbances in the form of an open military conflict in our region of interest have occupied a lot of public attention. These challenges and disturbances may have taken away from the public discussion of the long-term imperative of promoting sustainable development. They, however, have not diminished our commitment to promote international economic cooperation in support of sustainable development objectives. An interesting turn of events is that mining sector activity is now increasingly driven by sustainable development requirements for critical minerals.

In addition to being one of the mainstays of Canadian economic growth, the mining sector has been a traditional area of cooperation between Canada and the countries of Eurasia in which CECC is involved. Improving international interaction between Canada and Eurasia in the mining sector remains one of the key elements of CECC's business development mandate. Countries of the region on which are focusing are also themselves pursuing more active development of the sector and are looking for the active involvement of foreign partners. This offers opportunities for growth and for productive interaction as new generation infrastructure is being developed.

At CECC we constantly endeavour to create the right circumstances for potential business partners to make contact and to engage in productive discussions. We encourage you to take full advantage of this conference and of PDAC's business-friendly environment. If that is not yet the case yet, we encourage you to consider membership in CECC so as engage more closely in the activities we organise throughout the year.

Let me wish you a successful participation in our 2023 CECC Eurasia Mining Conference.

Gilles Breton,
CECC National Chairman
