

Alison LeClaire (BA Hons [Political Science], York University, 1987) joined the Department of External Affairs in 1987. At Headquarters, she served in divisions responsible for human resource management, human rights, and environment and energy. She was deputy director of policy planning from 2002 to 2005; director of China, Mongolia and Taiwan relations from 2005 to 2009; corporate secretary from 2014 to 2016; and senior Arctic official and director general for Arctic, Eurasian and European Affairs from 2016 to 2019. Overseas, she served in Brasilia from 1989 to 1991 as second secretary, political and public affairs; in Stockholm from 1998 to 2002 as political counsellor; and in Geneva from 2009 to 2014 as minister-counsellor and deputy permanent representative.